Last night, Mrs. E. Herzberger delivered course, in the German language, in Bergman's George of Eighth and S. Streets. Her theme is Women in the Departments. The lecture very interesting and amusing, and was islaned up quite a large audience. A goodly number of ericans were present, who exemed to enjoy the are as much as the rest.

Although the Solicitor of the Treasury in a decision in the case of little Dr. Mary Walker is taken a kindly view of the desolate condition the peraistent petitioner for her rights, so-called, It is difficult to see how she can get it, no matter how friendly the entire Department may be to her, how friendly the entire Department may be to her, or how willing to pass over the duces and make cares in the desert by the Boctor's life the Secretary and all his "subs" may feel. There is no appropriation out of which to pay such a sum. It is not been is the books, and all the opinions in Christendom could hardly induce the payment of the claim in these hard times.

Yesterday morning a well-dressed female entered the store of B. C. Beooker, corner Eleventh street and Pennisylvania avenue morthweat, and asked to be shown some rings. Several trays were submitted for her inspection, but as none appeared to suit her she started to leave the store. At this moment Mr. Brooker theorered that one of the moment Mr. Brouker discovered that one of the tings was missing and charged her wish the theff. She emphatically denied having possession of the ring and seked that she might be scarched. Her pockets were turned inside out, but the missing article could not be found. A boy was then that for a police man, but before his return the woman, fin ding herself in a tight place, told Mr. Brooker anding herself in a tight place, told Mr. Prooker that if he would not prosecute her she would re-turn the ring. She then opened her left hand, which she had kept tightly closed during the inter-riew and there lay the tost article. She was taken to the Fifth Freedon's stated that she was not repossible for her actions to make a charge against her, she was turned over to her friends, who sent her home.
